WARNING: CONTAINS SPOILERS

What did you make of the women of twelve Rue Ercol?

Why do you think Connie's decision to spilt from Matt was so sudden?

Do you think Keber really loved Claudette?

Who murdered Claudette?

If you were Claudette, would you have kept the baby?

Carrick suffers from PTSD and possibly a head injury. Does this make him an unreliable narrator, or was he telling the truth?

What were Cécile Roussel's motivations for her actions? What did you make of this sentence: 'A small hand, possibly that of a child, fiddled with the catch then withdrew inside.'

Why did Cécile tell her neighbour to let Laurent Ducas into her apartment?

If you were Martha, would you have stayed or would you have left?
